

CLIFFORD OUTLINES PEACE PLAN

Pullout Agreement Believed Meaningful

... HE HAS 'REASON' TO THINK SO

Washington (AP) — Former defense secretary Clark M. Clifford said Tuesday he has reason to believe the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong would release all American prisoners within 30 days if the United States agreed to withdraw all its forces from Indochina by Dec. 31.

In a speech to three peace groups meeting here, Clifford said, "I believe that the war could well be over by the time the last U.S. forces are withdrawn."

In an interview with The Associated Press prior to the speech, Clifford outlined his proposal this way:

The United States would agree to withdraw all U.S. military personnel from South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia by Dec. 31 and end all ground, air and naval activity by U.S. forces in South Vietnam, North Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia by the same date.

Return All Prisoners

In return, Clifford said, the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong would agree to return all U.S. prisoners within 30 days of the joint announcement by Hanoi and Washington of this agreement and would refrain from attacks that would threaten the safety of U.S. military personnel during the period of withdrawal.

"I have reason to believe the North Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front would agree to this as the result of conversations I have had with a number of people who have been active in this field," Clifford said in the interview.

Clifford declined to identify the people to whom he referred.

He added that he did not have any information on how the South Vietnamese might respond to such a proposal and had not discussed it with any members of the Nixon administration.

Viet Cong Promise

At the same time Clifford outlined his plan, Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., told a news conference that Viet Cong negotiators have promised him

Coal Mining Down

Essen, Germany (AP) — West Germany had 250,000 coal miners in 1970, about half as many as a decade earlier, and coal production dropped from 142 million tons in 1960 to 111 million tons last year, mining industry officials reported.

that if a date were set for total withdrawal of U.S. forces they would release all their American prisoners before that date.

The North Vietnamese, however, did not change their stated position that a withdrawal date would bring a discussion of prisoner release, Leggett said.

Clifford, who served as secretary of defense in 1968, the last year of the Johnson administration, and now has a private law practice here, has been a frequent critic of President Nixon's Vietnam policy. He has often called on the administration to set a definite withdrawal date, something Nixon has refused to do.

Clifford's plan as outlined Tuesday contained safeguards for both sides.

"If our prisoners are not returned within 30 days from date of announcement of agreement, then our obligation to withdraw is terminated," he said. "If Hanoi and the NLF return our prisoners within the time stated, then the other side has the assurance that the enormous pressure of domestic and world opinion would guarantee our complete removal by the terminal date."

1,500 Lawyers, Others

Clifford made his peace proposal public in a speech to the National Convocation of Lawyers To End the War, a group of 1,500 lawyers from some of the most prominent law firms in the country, the National Council for an Indochina Deadline and the Committee for Peace and New Priorities.

"The advantages to both sides in the proposal are so demonstrable that one could be confident they would be carried out as agreed upon," Clifford said in his speech.

"The United States would remove its troops by a day certain. We would get our prisoners back. The killing and wounding of U.S. military personnel would end. The enormous expense of active military participation would be terminated."

"The North Vietnamese and the NLF would achieve a long-sought goal — the departure of U.S. military personnel from Indochina. The possibilities of a negotiated end to the war, reached by the North and South Vietnamese, would be greatly increased."

"An additional incentive to a prompt end of hostilities could be the offer of the United States to start a program of reconstruction in both North and South Vietnam as soon as the war was over."

OFFICIALS ONLY EXPECT 'CHAOS' ...

Parking Lot Clash Features NU, Fair

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Although a change in next fall's scheduling will bring together at the same time at the same parking lot University of Nebraska drivers and state fair-goers, NU officials are not much worried about the outcome.

"We are just going to have chaos," Miles Tommeraasen said matter-of-factly.

But the NU director of business and finance said "chaos" is nearly synonymous with the parking situation on the campus a couple of times a year, particularly during state basketball tournaments when hordes of high school fans descend on the campus.

This fall, for the first time, the first semester of NU classes will begin before the state fair commences, due to a major change in university scheduling.

First semester classes will begin Sept. 1 and end with Christmas vacation. The state fair begins Sept. 2 and ends Sept. 8.

A 1,000-car parking lot on the fairgrounds has been in use by NU for a year, and that No. 14th Street lot will apparently be called upon to serve both the fair and the university during fair week.

But Tommeraasen said the fair and NU have traditionally shared some parking lots in the fairground area, although the overlap has been no more than two or three days in the past.

The finance chief said he believes NU personnel will take the same attitude they exhibit during other crowded days. "They want them to come to town and visit the campus," he said.

He said the 1,000-car "overload" lot — used by both faculty members and students who ride a shuttle bus from there to the campus — has never been full since NU began using it last fall.

He said no more than 500 cars were parked there at any one time this year, and he guessed that 200 to 300 was the usual number.

And he said lots often are not filled to capacity during the first week of school. If they were, he added, NU would be more concerned about next fall's situation.

But he said officials filed few complaints, even during state basketball tournament time when fans often fill the lots in the campus area.

The fairgrounds lot is used by NU as a trade, he said, for allowing fair-goers the use of a number of lots during the annual agricultural show.

Lincoln General Seeks County Property

... HOSPITAL INTERESTED IN HEALTH, WELFARE OFFICES BUILDING

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln General Hospital may acquire the county-owned property adjacent to the hospital, it was learned Tuesday.

Representatives of the hospital indicated to Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday that the hospital is interested in purchasing the county-owned building at 2200 St. Mary's which now houses the City-County Health Department and Lancaster County Welfare offices.

The south part of the structure which formerly was the County Convalescent Hospital is now under a 10-year lease to Lincoln General which, under terms of the lease agreement, may terminate the lease and offer to purchase the premises from the county after expiration of the first year of the lease which went into effect April 1.

Discuss Maintenance

The discussion of the possible purchase grew out of a meeting to discuss an agreement between the county and hospital for engineering and maintenance of the county health and welfare offices under the existing lease.

Hospital Administrator Robert Brungard told the board that the hospital is interested in purchase because the property adjacent to the north of Lincoln General Hospital is "ideally located and has expansion possibilities of three more floors."

Lincoln General Hospital Board President J. Herbert Hopkins told the board that the hospital would like to enter into some sort of agreement for the north half of the two-story building to the mutual benefit of all.

Good For Everybody

"We are trying to work out something that will be for the good of everybody," he said.

Although possible uses for the county's property by the hospital are not immediately known, Brungard said, consideration would probably be given to out-patient care and office space as well as the parking.

The possibility of utilizing the facility for such services as a health maintenance organization center being pushed by federal authorities was also mentioned.

Much To Consider

The commissioners indicated that some agreement might be worked out but that many things would have to be considered, such as cost for moving the health and welfare offices, feasibility of relocation of the offices and a reasonable sale price.

County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert said that he would not be opposed to moving but such a move could not be made immediately.

The possibility of utilizing the space at the former nurse's quarters at the Lancaster Manor complex or the south wing of Lancaster Manor was discussed and whether the health department might be kept at the present location through agreement with the hospital.

Prefer Entire Area

Brungard said that the hospital would prefer to acquire the entire property but some of these areas would have to be worked out.

Dr. George Underwood, city-county health director, noted that relocation of the health department could present problems since the health department has not paid for office space up to this time.

He said prior to that department's moving into the quarters at 2200 St. Mary's, the city furnished the space and since that time the county has furnished space and the health department "has not paid a cent."

Benefits Seen

County Commissioner William Grossman said that he was sure that such a purchase by Lincoln General would be of benefit to the hospital for both the building space and its possibilities for expansion, and parking area since the parking area north of Lincoln General is owned by the county as well as other adjacent areas.

He said that the commissioners had not had an opportunity to determine a possible sale price since many things are to be considered including,

—The construction cost of $1.2 million to build the structure about seven years ago;

—the value of the land;

—the price the county paid for the purchase of numerous properties in acquiring the site;

—the costs of relocating county offices.

Before Law Changed

At the time the county entered into the lease agreement with the hospital about a year ago, County Attorney Paul Douglas stated that under the law at that time the county could not sell the property without a vote of the people.

However, the 1971 legislature passed a bill which provides that it is not necessary to have a vote of the people in order for one governmental subdivision to sell property to another.

After considerable discussion of the problems of maintenance of the convalescent unit by Lincoln General in the past, it was agreed that the hospital would draw up an agreement for maintenance of the health and welfare offices to present to the commissioners if they, in turn, would work out some proposal for sale of the property in the near future.

Enjoys The Trip

Tokyo (AP) — Yasuhei Kato spends six hours a day commuting to and from his home in Shizuoka prefecture 90 miles away and says he enjoys it, especially having a few with the boys in the bar car. And that's not all: his employer pays half the $221 cost of a six-month commutation ticket.

Senate Passes Military Pay Hike

Washington (AP) — The Senate reversed itself Tuesday and approved a $2.7-billion pay increase for the armed forces, brushing aside a Nixon administration request to hold it to $1 billion.

It also took two steps to end the month-long debate over a house-passed bill to extend the draft law for two years. It agreed to vote June 16 on the Hatfield-McGovern amendment to cut off funds for the Indochina war on Dec. 31, and to decide a week later whether to end and over-all debate on the draft measure.

The agreements — plus adoption of a pay provision close to that voted earlier by the House — strengthened chances that Congress will pass a two-year draft extension before the Selective Service law expires June 30.

May Be Accepted

It could mean that the measure approved by the Senate could be accepted in the House without it having to go to conference.

A conference report resolving differences between House and Senate bills could be subjected to a filibuster that would drag consideration out past June 30.

Draft officials have said, however, they could call on more than a million previously deferred men, including college students, if necessary to keep the flow of military manpower going after June 30.

The pay provision approved Tuesday was offered by Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and was passed 51 to 27.

The $1-billion figure asked by the administration was backed by the Senate Armed Services Committee and was upheld by the Senate on a May 26 roll call.

Addition Rejected

At that time, the Senate rejected 42 to 31 a proposal by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, to add $1.7 billion in pay and allowances and bring the figure in the Senate bill in line with that voted by the House.

That amendment was pushed by senators favoring an immediate switch to an all-volunteer force or limitation of draft extension to one year.

Both of those proposals were beaten in separate votes last Friday, and some senators said this enabled senators favoring higher pay, but opposing anything short of a two-year extension, to vote for the Allott amendment.

Opposing the amendment, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said there is no money to pay for it unless the budget deficit is increased or other military functions are cut back.

"We can't enact this amendment without grave consequences to our national defense," Stennis declared, again using figures he employed against the Hughes amendment showing the military already would get a $3.4 billion raise in a 13-month period due to legislation previously enacted and this bill.

Allott said his proposal is designed to bring "some justice and some equity for the enlisted man."

The sum is the same as was recommended by President Nixon's Gates Commission which called for an all-volunteer force.

The administration has said it hopes to switch to an all-volunteer force in mid-1973 if decreased manpower requirements permit and pay increases produce the increase in volunteers anticipated.

Shawn Defeats Her Best Friend For Governorship Of Girls State

National Party candidate Shawn Leary defeated her best friend and classmate since second grade Tuesday to become governor of 1971 Cornhusker Girls State.

Shawn defeated her Omaha Westside classmate Marcia Angle. The two had planned before Girls State began to run together on a governor-vice governor ticket, Shawn said.

However, when Girls State participants split into two parties, Shawn and Marcia found themselves not only on opposing parties, but vying against each other for the top spot of governor.

"It really didn't matter which one of us got it. I would have been happy for Marcia and she would have been happy for me ... there was no campaign friction or tension at all," Shawn commented.

Shawn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Leary. Marcia's parents are Dr. and Mrs. William D. Angle.

The National Party platform advocated stronger programs in medical and health research, pollution and women's rights.

The Federalist Party advocated stricter welfare policies to avoid misappropriation of funds and urged implementation of meaningful drug abuse and ecology programs.

Ruth Spencer of Omaha South was elected lieutenant governor; Julie Martin of Wahoo, secretary of state and Judy Shea of Lexington, state treasurer.

Elected state auditor was Rita Wagner of Davenport. Mary Lilly of Blair was selected to fill the attorney general spot.

Railway commissioners are Jan Dickinson of Pierce.

Washington — A "concise, workable" plan to end the Vietnamese conflict was outlined Tuesday night by former defense secretary Clark M. Clifford. Under the plan, which Clifford said he had "reason to believe" would be acceptable to North Vietnam, the United States could reach an agreement with Hanoi to withdraw all troops by the end of 1971 and win release of all prisoners of war within 30 days. Public Jobs Bill Passed

Washington — A $5.5 billion economic development bill that includes a large public works program was passed by the Senate despite threats that the President might veto the measure. The controversial public works program would authorize $2 billion for projects such as city halls and the program has been a key part of the Democratic effort to create jobs for the poor.

$500 Million In Securities Stolen

Washington — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and New York City Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy told the Senate investigations subcommittee that more than $500 million worth of securities have been stolen in the past two years, much of it by organized crime. Mitchell also said many thefts of securities go unreported or unnoticed. (More on Page 27.)

New York Strike Spreads

New York — Sewage, incineration, parks and school lunch workers joined the strike of municipal employees, but drawbridge operators, who began the walkouts Monday, were ordered

New York — Dr. Alvin Johnson, a founder of the New School for Social Research, died Monday night at his home in Nyack at age 96. Founded in 1919 by Johnson and a number of other leaders in American education, the New School has become to be generally regarded as one of the foremost adult education centers in the country. (More on Page 12.)

Walkouts Are Shelved In New York

New York — The municipal workers who opened the city's drawbridges and closed some of its sewage treatment plants in strikes for an improved pension plan agreed Tuesday night on a plan to shelve the dispute and end the walkouts.

The men accepted a plan by the city's Office of Collective Bargaining that would postpone until next year action by the state legislature on a proposed new pension system. It was Albany's refusal to approve this system that touched off the walkouts which snarled traffic Monday and spread Tuesday to sewage treatment plants.

garbage disposal facilities and some school lunchrooms.

Only about 7,000 of the city's 400,000 nonuniformed workers were involved.

Meanwhile, the last of 29 drawbridges which had been locked in open position by a strike of 318 bridge tenders was put back in operation Tuesday night after a Teamster's union local ordered the men back to work.

Renegotiation Set

The settlement plan provides that if the legislature should fail to act favorably on the pension plan in 1972, the issue will be renegotiated by the city and the union.

Mayor John V. Lindsay called the settlement "a sensible, rational, orderly procedure for the next year."

He said he would push for the passage by the legislature of the pension plan, which he described as a "sound, sensible one," and expressed the hope that a pension study commission created by the legislature would come to agree.

Victor Gotbaum, executive director of District 37 of the State, County and Municipal Workers, AFL-CIO, said in announcing his acceptance of the settlement proposal that the two-day strike had "made plenty of sense."

"We told the governor and the legislature," he said, "that we were one group that would not be a colony in this state."

Part of the difficulty in restoring bridge service was the absence of fuses and other equipment taken by the strikers when they left their jobs. The district attorneys of both Manhattan and the Bronx ordered investigations to see if the bridge tenders had violated laws against vandalism and theft.

Calling the strike "vicious," state Supreme Court Justice Harold Baer issued a preliminary injunction ordering the municipal workers back to their jobs. An earlier court mandate to return to work already had been ignored over a 24-hour period by the union.

Park attendants remained on strike, but all facilities were open on a second day of temperatures in the 90s.

Mayor John V. Lindsay held in reserve his threat to seek a National Guard callup. He said the police department had things well in hand thus far.

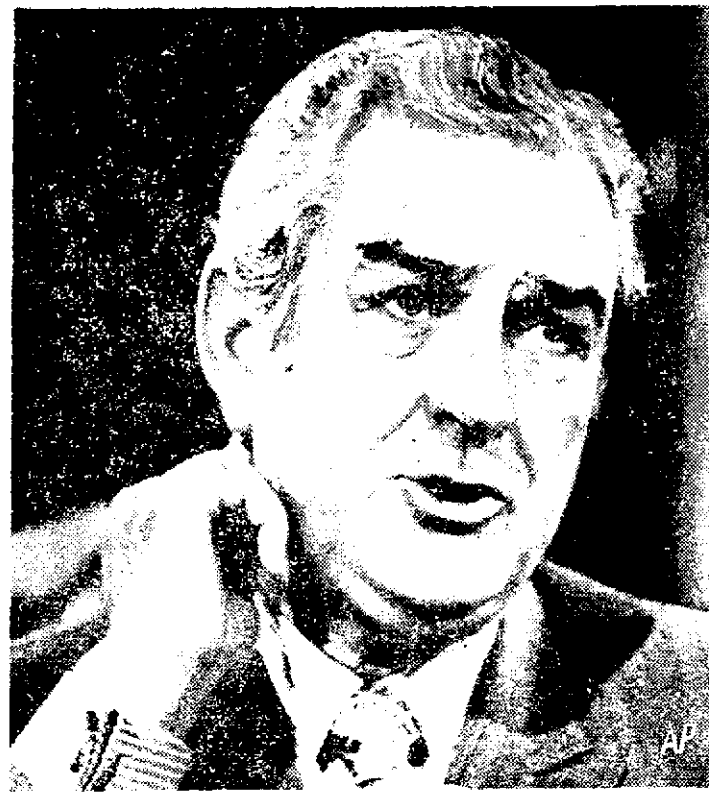

Willing To Renegotiate

While Maher was saying this, Gotbaum was expressing a willingness to renegotiate the pension issue and adding that a meeting with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller "could bring about a settlement."

The key demand is a provision for retirement at one-half the final year's salary after 20 years. The city approves and says it would cost $30 million a year. The state legislature, some of whose leaders put the cost at $60 million, is refusing to go along.

When 2,000 workers walked off the job at 11 of the city's 13 sewage treatment centers, officials reverted to old-fashioned methods and began pouring New York's daily 1.4 billion gallons of raw wastes into the Hudson and East Rivers.

A strike of 300 employees at the seven garbage incinerators failed to halt the daily collection of 10,000 tons of trash. While it could not be burned, it was disposed of at landfill sites, which normally receive 65% of the accumulation anyway.

CONNALLY . . . returns to testify again.

Connally Equates Delay With Lockheed Failure

Washington — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally told Congress Tuesday that delay in approving $250 million in bank loan guarantees will drive Lockheed Aircraft Corp. into bankruptcy.

He hinted at an Aug. 8 deadline, the date Congress has set to start a month-long vacation.

Answering questions for a second day before the Senate Banking Committee Connally said he could foresee no circumstances that would permit Lockheed to proceed to manufacture its L1011 TriStar Airbus without government-guaranteed financing.

He said the British government has asked for assurance of Lockheed survival as a condition for backing production of the Rolls Royce engines, and that some of the 24 American banks supplying the money to Lockheed are beyond their borrowing limits without government guarantee.

Connally assured the senators that Lockheed, the nation's largest defense contractor, has sufficient assets to give the government ample security for the loan guarantee.

But without the guarantee, he said, Lockheed faces a billion-dollar loss and the government nearly a half-billion-dollar loss in tax revenues.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., leading opponent of the administration's loan-guarantee proposal, called it "the beginning of a welfare program for large corporations."

Rightist Slain; Santiago In State Of Emergency

Santiago, Chile — Gunmen assassinated a prominent anti-leftist politician Tuesday, plunging the 7-month-old government of Marxist President Salvador Allende into a major crisis. Allende decreed emergency measures to maintain order in this country of 9.5 million people.

Edmundo Perez Zujovic, 57, died of five bullet wounds suffered in an ambush of his car by three men firing submachine guns. As minister of interior under the previous Christian Democratic administration, Perez Zujovic was in charge of internal security.

Some Marxists called him "the hard-handed one," and held him responsible for a bloody clash between police and homeless squatters in 1969.

Shortly after the slaying, Allende clamped a state of emergency and curfew on Santiago province and put military units on alert throughout the country. He charged the murder was deliberately staged to create "a sensation of chaos" in the country.

The opposition Christian Democratic Party demanded that army intelligence — and not civil police detectives — handle the investigation of the death. In a harshly worded statement the party said it "lacked confidence" in the administration of the civil police.

The Christian Democrats and the right-wing National Party blamed the assassination on armed leftist groups.

"This crime is the culmination of a series of attacks by armed Marxists whose actions have been tolerated by the government," a National Party statement said. The Christian Democrats called for a government drive to wipe out such groups.

One of the three persons being sought by police was identified by detectives as Ronald Rivera Calderon, 25, who was listed as a member of the Organized People's Vanguard, an extreme leftist group.

It was the second assassination here in eight months. Gen. Rene Schneider, commander in chief of the army, was ambushed and fatally wounded Oct. 22, before Allende took office. The government has said the crime was a plot aimed at keeping Allende from becoming president.

Defection Total Told

Bonn (UPI) — The semi-official military magazine Soldat und Technik (Soldier and Technician) said more than 10,500 East German soldiers have fled to the West since 1956. The magazine said the number has dropped from 2,170 in 1956 to 63 last year because of stronger East German border defenses and changes in duty procedures designed to thwart would-be defectors.

Citizens' Panel Adopts 9 Goals In 4-Hour Meet

By LINDA SULLIVAN
Star Staff Writer

Saddled with the burden of adopting a governmental plan that will affect all facets of life in the city and county, the Lincoln-Lancaster County Goals and Policies Committee adopted nine goals at a Tuesday meeting that lasted nearly four hours and had lost almost half of its participants by the end.

The committee organized last winter to update the 1961 comprehensive plan, adopted the goals after studying attitudes and opinions expressed in a survey of Lincolniters.

In the area of housing, the committee adopted a goal after an hour of discussion to "provide safe (free from safety and health hazards), decent (with adequate facilities and livable space), sanitary (meeting minimum state and local health codes) and aesthetically pleasant housing."

Enough Housing

The goal also, stipulates that an adequate number of single and-or multiple dwellings shall be made available for all persons as needed in Lincoln and Lancaster County, income.

Dealing with economic development and employment, a goal was adopted for the provision of an economic climate which will encourage a balance between industrial, commercial, educational, agricultural and governmental development with adequate environmental control. Orderly controlled economic growth should provide optimum job opportunities, according to the goal statement.

The committee's "commercial services goal" is "to provide a wide range of well-planned and controlled commercial services which would be easily accessible to all segments of the county population."

At one point during the meeting, after more than two hours of discussion had resulted in the adoption of only four goals, a motion for adjournment was made from the floor.

50 Of 90 Remain

When the adjournment motion failed, approximately one-third of the meetings 90 participants walked out. By the meeting's end about 50 participants remained.

Sub-goals, or specific methods of achieving these established goals, will be discussed at the group's meeting next Tuesday. The following Tuesday, the committee will consolidate their goals with those of William Colbion of the Leo A. Daly firm of San Francisco. That firm was contracted as consultant to the committee for a fee of $71,800.

Other goals adopted Tuesday night:

—Provide a balanced transportation system which is necessary, desirable and efficient to serve the needs of the county and which will best effectuate the land use plan.

—Provide desirable and adequate community services and facilities to all portions of the county in accordance with good economic and social practice.

—Provide a diverse regional network of parks and recreational facilities which afford all residents with convenient access to a wide range of recreational opportunities, with coordinated effort for continued expansion of parks and recreation facilities as they become needed.

—Provide equal educational opportunities for all age groups which continually keep pace with changing social values, and economic and environmental conditions, and provide the opportunity to extend individual talents and interest.

—Provide an improved quality of environment which is ecologically sound, is healthful and safe, and is aesthetically pleasing and insure that the city-county government should set a good example for the greater community in the high priority placed on quality environment with strict enforcement of environmental regulations.

—Provide a planned, orderly urban development. "There should be a balance between residential, commercial, industrial, transportation and semi-public urban facilities, rural areas, and outlying villages," the goal stated.

Bobcat Is Pet Of Fremont Youth

Michael Depue, 14, of Fremont fondles his newly found pet bobcat, one of three he and a companion discovered in an abandoned barn near Lynch. His friend, Bruce Kolund, also 14, kept a second cat. The third they gave to Lyle Nelson, their math teacher at Fremont Junior High School. The bobkittens are about six weeks old.

Cleanup Involves Towns' Officials

Kimball (AP) — Kimball County Jaycees involved two mayors and a city councilman in what they believe is the first county-wide cleanup project attempted in Nebraska.

Discussion Heated On Davis Fund

Omaha (AP) — About 250 persons engaged in a heated two-hour debate here on a $10,000 United Presbyterian church grant to black militant Angela Davis' defense fund.

No formal action or votes were taken at the meeting at Miller Park Presbyterian Church, sponsored by the General Council of the Omaha Presbytery.

Participants were urged to discuss the matter in their individual churches and draw up resolutions expressing support or opposition.

Opponents of the grant argued that Miss Davis, a professed Marxist who is charged with conspiracy in connection with the shooting deaths of four persons at the Marin County, Calif., Courthouse last August, does not need the money because she will receive funds from others.

They also said the church should not spend its money to help an avowed opponent of the American system and argued that the system needs no help from the church in providing a fair trial.

Supporters of the grant argued that Christians have a duty to see that justice is done to all individuals, however unpopular, and said the church must try to help end racial injustice.

Among the opponents was a Wahoo, Neb., man who argued that "the church is off base to get involved in politics, especially when it is fighting the federal government."

"It is a federal charge against her and we are using Presbyterian money to fight the federal government," he added, a remark which was greeted with loud applause.

A black woman, who said she is a member of the local Presbyterian Commission on Church and Race, said:

"The National Council on Church and Race which made the grant is concerned about the growing number of acts of repression by law enforcement officers," she said. "The people on the council are responsible people who weighted carefully the question of justice with which we are concerned."

The woman said Presbyterians "should be more concerned with justice" and the reasons why the church set up the legal defense fund, from which the grant was made.

A few persons said they felt the legal defense funds should have been given to poorer persons

$491,000 Health Dept. Budget Request Okayed

The Lincoln-Lancaster County Board of Health Tuesday night unanimously approved a $491,422 budget request for the 1971-72 fiscal year.

The new budget, outlined for the board by Dr. George Underwood compares with a $455,992 budget for 1970-71.

Dr. Underwood explained that the main increases include:

—An across the board 5% increase in salaries for all staff to compensate for the rising cost of living and maintain salaries on a competitive level.

—Folding wall partitions for well-child clinics which will enable the staff members to hold private conferences with parents.

—A new nursing position and the addition of a doctor to work half a day in a venereal disease clinic.

Dr. Underwood said they have been having trouble keeping nurses because of the much higher salaries offered by the hospitals.

The budget request is scheduled to be sent to the City Council and the county commissioners by June 17th.

Ak Good Neighbor Awards Honor 9 Nebraska Groups

Omaha — The Cedar Bluffs Commercial Club, which developed a community park, is one of 10 Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor Award winners announced by Ak-Sar-Ben General Manager and Executive Director Tom Brock.

This is the 28th year that Ak-Sar-Ben has honored Nebraska and western Iowa groups for outstanding neighborly deeds and accomplishments. Awards for individual recipients will be announced next week.

The Cedar Bluffs Commercial Club converted an alfalfa field into a beautiful community park. Led by Lloyd Konecky and Frank Zima, the club built a picnic shelter, installed grills, built tables and put up playground equipment. A new restroom facility was completed last fall and additional land has been acquired for tennis courts.

Other groups selected and their accomplishments include:

Bloomfield (Neb.) Good Samaritan Rest Home Auxiliary — A volunteer group of ladies who sponsor crafts projects, birthday parties, group entertainment, write letters and run errands for the patients at the Good Samaritan Rest Home.

Bristow (Neb.) Lions Club — The Bristow Lions have been active in improving the Bristow Community Hall and the city park. The club has been a leader in providing aid during summer rains and tornadoes or winter snows. The club is among the state leaders in the Lions' sight programs.

Rock-Keel Union 4-H Club of Correctionville, Iowa — The 54-member club is involved in more than 30 different projects which have benefited the community. Included are the purchase of a piano for the Valley View Nursing Home helping develop the Correctionville golf course, and helping develop a roadside park.

Gross (Neb.) Women's Club — The club has sponsored or participated in almost every project undertaken in this, the smallest incorporated town in Nebraska.

Town and Country Extension Club of Hay Springs, Neb. — The 11-member club has been active in helping the elderly, including the shopping of walks during the winter, visiting nursing homes, delivering mail and remembering their birthdays and other special occasions.

Gun Is Snatched From Man Ending Three-Hour Ordeal

Omaha (AP) — Police Sgt. Merrill Putnam snatched a loaded gun from an Omaha man Tuesday ending a three-hour ordeal during which the man had held his wife and his parents hostage in his west Omaha home.

Police said the man, Dean Wagner, 39, was taken to Richard Young Hospital for psychiatric treatment.

In the house with Wagner and Putnam when the ordeal ended, was Dr. Samuel Watson, a psychiatrist called to the scene.

Wagner's wife said her husband's "mind snapped" over the weekend from the pressures of his traveling sales job. She said he saw Dr. Watson Monday and was given some pills, but took only one.

She said her husband wasn't himself Tuesday so she called his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wagner, who came to the home about 9 a.m.

Wagner's father called Dr. Watson, and while he was on the phone Wagner went to the basement and returned with a pistol, his wife said.

She said the father told Dr. Watson that Wagner had the pistol and Dr. Watson apparently called police.

When 11 policemen and a deputy sheriff arrived, they attempted to talk Wagner into putting down the gun, but to no avail. Wagner permitted his wife to leave about 10:30 a.m. and his parents about an hour later. A short time later Dr. Watson entered the house and then Sgt. Putnam.

Putnam said Wagner indicated he would give the officer the gun if several newsmen outside the house would leave.

Putnam said Wagner asked him to look out the window to see if the newsmen had left, and as the policeman did so he grabbed the gun and pulled it away from Wagner, who resisted only slightly. The newsmen had already moved from the area.

Road Crash Death Toll Rises To Five

Grand Island (AP) — A Dannebrog woman died in a Grand Island hospital Monday night as a result of injuries received in a two vehicle crash which claimed four other lives on Sunday.

She was Mrs. Bessie Larkowski, 65, Dannebrog, who was the mother of two of those killed Sunday in the collision of a car and a pickup truck about three miles west of St. Paul on Nebraska 92.

2 Hospitalized

Two other persons remain hospitalized from that crash. They are Loren E. Lewandowski, 16, of Farwell, and Donald Reimers, 39, of Dannebrog.

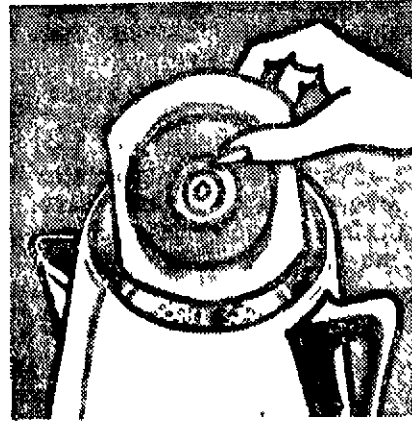

Nebraska's 1971 traffic fatality toll now stands at 150, two more than had been recorded last year at this time.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Legal aid for the poor, now being provided to more than one million recipients a year throughout the nation, will be different following the current session of Congress. Members of Congress are fully expected to adopt one of two proposals on the subject, that of President Nixon or that of Sen. Walter F. Mondale.

The Nixon proposal now carries the signature of Nebraska's Sen. Roman Hruska. Both approaches, it seems safe to say, constitute an honest effort to improve legal aid to the poor but the Nixon plan has some drawbacks which have swung many over to the side of the Mondale plan.

Nixon's plan calls for an 11-member legal aid corporation, totally independent and removed from the present Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). All appointments to the board would be made by the President.

The problem here is that if you get an unsympathetic president, the board could be stacked against the poor. You don't have it in Nixon but you certainly would have it in someone such as Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Mondale would have a 19-member board, with five appointed by the President, three appointed by a clients' advisory board, three by a project attorneys advisory board and the others, mostly attorneys, serving by virtue of the organizational office they hold.

The Mondale approach does a better job of insuring against political pressures being applied against the program. Also, the Nixon plan calls for 30 days notice of legal aid grants to the governor of the state in which the grantee is located. This is an improvement over the right of gubernatorial veto of a grant but it still invites political intervention that is unnecessary and not called for in the Mondale bill.

The Nixon plan forbids legal aid representation in criminal cases and any political activity on the part of legal aid lawyers. Both of these are shortcomings, in that they tend to limit the full range of services and activities in which legal aid lawyers can engage in behalf of the poor.

President Nixon, in his message on the new corporation to Congress last month, reported that perhaps four out of five legal problems of the poor still go unattended today. Despite this, he proposes continued funding for the project at current levels of about $76 million annually.

Mondale would raise the future to $140 million for 1972 and $170 million for 1973. That, we know, sounds like a lot of money and it is but it is about what has been proposed, for instance, for funding of the controversial SST program.

We have referred to Governor Reagan. It might do well to take a look at one of the governor's recent experiences. His administration was challenged in court for cutbacks earlier in the year on the state's program of medical assistance to the poor. Medi-Cal.

A county superior court judge has denied the cuts in an action brought, among others, by a county legal aid agency. The court ruling said that the cuts were based on untrue evidence, false statements and generally violated the law.

The judge said that the administration, long before it made the cuts, knew that a fiscal crisis threatened the Medi-Cal program but remained silent and did nothing to avert it. Thus, he said, the administration could not suddenly use its emergency powers, as it did, to make the cuts.

The case is a shocking one in that it represents a preconceived and deliberate attempt to undermine a public program through dishonest means. When an administration will go that far to serve its own political convictions, you can well imagine that a program for legal aid to the poor must have a firm foundation.

The Nixon administration is given credit for seeking to improve the current situation and the President's bill would be an improvement. But the Mondale bill is better yet and deserves the support of Congress.

This is a matter that should be beyond partisan politics. Politically, whose bill is finally adopted makes no difference but we should seek to best serve the cause of legal aid for the poor.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is fuming because Capitol Hill liberals are stealing his thunder on drug control. He has been talking about drug control since his pre-inaugural days but has done little to implement his rhetoric . . .

Members of Congress are supposed to use their free mailing privileges for official business only. Yet Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., and Rep. The greatest auto tycoon of them all, General Motors' Alfred Sloan, set the policy that got his company in trouble 40 years later for putting profits ahead of safety. This is revealed in a soon-to-be-published book, "America, Inc., Who Owns and Operates the United States," by two of the nation's top investigators, Morton Mintz of the Washington Post and Jerry Cohen formerly of the Senate Anti-Trust Committee. They tell how E. I. du Pont & Co. tried to interest Sloan in safety glass back in 1929. But Sloan replied coldly that "accidents or no accidents, my concern in this problem is a matter of profit or loss."

Courtesy, Awareness Needed

The accident Monday in which six people were injured when the driver of their car swerved to avoid a bicycle and the car hit a telephone pole is the latest incident to point up the increasing conflict between motor vehicles and bicycles on city streets.

The bicycle population in Lincoln has literally exploded in a short period of time, with a little fewer than 10,000 bikes now estimated to be registered; some five years ago, there were probably less than half that number. Extreme caution will have to be exercised by motorists and bicyclists to make sure that a fatality accident does not occur.

City Council members, aware of the problem, have requested the city legal department to review traffic regulations regarding bicycles, recommend if new laws are needed and to work with the Lincoln Police Department to insure that existing ordinances are being completely enforced.

As is the case with many motorists, many bicyclists tend to think they own the road. They should become more familiar with sections of the ordinance which provide that bicycles, emerging from an alley or driveway, shall yield the right-of-way to all pedestrians and all vehicles approaching on the street, that every person operating a bicycle on the public streets shall ride as near to the curb on the right-hand side as practicable and that bicyclists shall ride single file, except on paths or parts of roadways set aside for the exclusive use of bicycles.

People driving motor vehicles will have to realize that bicycles have a place on the road and that extra care should be used when approaching bicycles because there are human beings on them and they are not very well protected.

Bicycling has become a very popular mode of transportation and it would be desirable if it did not have to be further restricted by law. Knowledge of the existing laws and common courtesy should prevail.

Something Not Needed

According to news reports, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf frowns on a proposal for permitting the sale of beer and liquor on Sunday, July 4. Both on and off sale of beer from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and the on sale of liquor from 6 to 10 p.m. would be permitted.

This is not a big deal as things go but we go along with the mayor. Something seems to be gnawing at us in regard to the argument that society should be free to do as it pleases, that everyone is entitled to be his own moral guardian.

On this basis, one would have to approve of the sale of beer and liquor on Sunday, not just the Fourth of July but every Sunday in the year. We just don't think this is necessary and we think it is an unwholesome influence in the community.

There is something to be said for recognizing on Sunday the fact that there

JAMES RESTON

Rededication To Original And Basic Values
Will Restore Faith And Happiness To Nation

WASHINGTON — The university students graduating this month have gone through one of the worst periods of civil disorder and drug addiction in the history of the Republic, and are now facing the highest rate of unemployment in nine years.

Most of them were born three or four years after the last world war. They were 11 years old when John Kennedy campaigned for the presidency, 14 when he was killed, 16 when the American ground and air war started in Vietnam. In short, the time of their active memory has been one of unrelieved turmoil, change, confusion, doubt, and temptation.

Still, we need not weep for them and, anyway, they are not interested in pity. Their situation is full of paradox. No generation ever talked so much about "commitment," yet seemed so unwilling to commit itself to one man or woman, or one useful job of work. None has talked so much about the great political and social issues, of the age, or written so badly about them. Seldom have so much physical and intellectual energy been combined, often in the same persons, with so much physical and intellectual slackness and even laxness.

They talk about "participatory democracy," but most of them do not participate in the democratic process. They complain about the loss of "individualism," but run in packs. They condemn the welfare state but lean on it, and praise the good life and personal happiness, but for all their activity, often seem bored and singularly joyless.

So maybe this new generation is not so different after all. They are our children with our own features, yearnings, and hypocrisies, only they are more visible, and vocal, and open in expressing their rebellion about the tangles of life. They look and sound more different than they are — TV and the press have dramatized the differences—but most of them do not even look or sound so different, only more interesting.

The commencement speakers seem to have been talking to the graduates this year, mainly about the war and drugs, emphasizing the astonishing conclusion that these are very bad things and may even be injurious to your health. But the political commencement speech is not very helpful these days, if it ever was, for the malaise in the country among old and young alike is not primarily political but philosophical.

People of all ages now are looking for purpose and meaning to their lives. The advertisers have seen the point clearer than the politicians. "Something to believe in," says General Motors, "a Buick!" But even if General Motors and President Nixon got everything they want tomorrow—peace, revenue-sharing, jobs, and a Buick in every garage—the problem of living without faith or trust in a noisy changing world of commercial and political hucksters would still be with us.

It was widely believed in 1914-19 and again in 1939-45 that war was the explanation of the disorder of the world, and later that economic chaos was what disoriented the human family, and both, of course, were partly true. But after the wars and the triumph of John Maynard Keynes, the moral confusion remained.

Nothing seems to irritate the young graduates of today more than what they regard as this outdated priggish moralizing, but you cannot explain, in the most practical circumstances, the present tragedies of the Vietnam war or the spiritual anxieties of the age, unless you take into account the moral indifference of American public and private life.

There is no way to remove our difficulties by political gimmicks, or to explain the American dilemma, unless we see ourselves as a decent people living below our idealistic standards of public and private life. Nixon cannot reconcile his Quakerism and his war policy in Vietnam, and the campus militants cannot reconcile their ideals and their violent actions unless they reject the principle of moral responsibility.

America is not a happy nation today because its people are not living up to the best in them, and its politicians are too often appealing to the worst in them. America has got rid of its faith but not of its conscience. And try as they do, its children are hung up on the

MARQUIS CHILDS

Jewish Struggle In Russia

WASHINGTON — The ordeal of the Jews in the Soviet Union must trouble the conscience of the world. The recent trials — trials in name only — on charges of plotting to hijack a plane to freedom were meant as intimidation to scare others into submission.

They ask merely for the right to emigrate to Israel. But that is, in itself, a slur on the socialist paradise. Once one religious or ethnic group is allowed to leave, the floodgates would be open and no one in authority could say when the exodus might stop.

To press the demand for an exit visa, as a number of Jews have done, is bringing reprisals. The obstacles put in the way are formidable, and it takes both courage and persistence to get the coveted pass to freedom. During the past year about a thousand Jews have come out.

In Jerusalem recently I talked with several of the new emigres. One was Dr. Esther Eisenstat, a Ph.D. in linguistics who had been professor at a linguistics institute in Moscow. She speaks fluently at least six languages.

When she first made application for an exit visa she was asked why she wanted to leave the Soviet Union. You have a good job, you are rather well paid, you have an apartment. What more do you want? Religious freedom is the answer that Dr. Eisenstat and the other emigres give.

Progressively over the years the opportunity for worship in the Jewish faith has contracted. Synagogues have been closed. Books printed in Yiddish or Hebrew have all but disappeared. Rabbinical and Talmudic teaching, the substance of the faith, must be done almost surreptitiously.

At the same time the price for a permit to leave has been steadily increased. The exit visa itself, if the applicant wants to go to a "capitalist" country, is about $400. Another $400 is the charge for surrendering Soviet citizenship. The total comes to about $1,000, and that is a large sum in a country where savings are not only hard to come by but are a kind of vote of no-confidence in a system in which the state is all-powerful.

Dr. Eisenstat, who went on a lecture tour across the United States shortly after establishing herself in Israel, is a realist. She doesn't believe that the current drive will result in any immediate relaxation of the bar on emigration. She is convinced the extremist tactics followed by Rabbi Meir Kahane and his followers will have an adverse effect both in the Soviet Union and the United States.

The small signs of dissent in the Soviet Union — coming from intellectuals, writers, poets, playwrights — give rise to speculation that authoritarian controls are easing. The theory frequently put forward is that, with the advanced education required in a highly technological society, freedom of thought is bound to widen. The state will have to let down some of the bars.

It is a dubious theory. Intellectuals pay for their dissent, usually expressed in the publication abroad of manuscripts smuggled out of the country, with prison term in Siberia or exile remote from Moscow. These are small chips off the monolith, and the Kremlin keeps its hold through a far-reaching system of secret police and informers who are themselves subject to black mail.

Yet Dr. Eisenstat and others who have managed to get out believe that world opinion does play a part. After the outcry over the death sentence imposed in the Leningrad trial that sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. While no one will predict when a relaxation may come, an interim settlement of the dispute would have a favorable effect. Israel figures estimate the number of Jews in the Soviet Union at 2,500,000.

The designation "Jew" goes on the individual's identity card, a kind of internal passport, if one or both parents are of Jewish origin. The origin of the mother is the determinant. In a bold decree the Israeli government recently offered citizenship to any Jew expressing a desire to emigrate, regardless of whether he could come to the Jewish state.

Since 1917 many minorities in the vast conglomerate of the Soviet Union have paid with harsh injustice for their separateness. But with the centuries-old tradition of the program as a political instrument under the czars, the Jew have paid most dearly.

Regarding opposition to LB761 by William Grossman and Kenneth Bourne, I would say they are "stubbornly" patriotic in their resistance to change of the present constitutional system by the League of Women Voters. Important qualities of leadership are foresight and willingness to face truth.

As long ago as 1963, Senator George McGovern recognized the fallacies of our Vietnam policy, and correctly called our involvement a "trap." He faced the truth long before most of us did, and he foresaw the damage to be done to our country.

If we want for our next president someone who will lead us, rather than just follow the polls, someone who will face new realities rather than adhere to old myths, then we should give positive consideration to Senator McGovern.

Young Voices
Lincoln, Neb.

I heard a young man speaking on the radio Monday evening in an interview. He had spent four years in the military service, and spoke calmly and factually of the complete futility of what we are doing in foreign lands, putting troops there, and accomplishing less than nothing.

He was not a radical. He had taken part in the recent protest in Washington by returning veterans, many of whom tossed their medals back as a token of their honest feelings about their own sacrifices and future participation in a conflict that has no apparent end.

We must listen to these, the non-violent young, who are now speaking out so sensibly. These are not arm-chair speculators among the civilian element, nor are they top military brass. These are the substance of our generations to come. If we do not hear their voices raised in protest and act upon what they have to say, then indeed there is no future.

The front-page article in the June 7 Star about another young veteran, a Lincolnite, along the same line of thought and should be read by everyone.

Omaha, Neb.

The 1971 Nebraska Special Olympics, held in Kearney Nebraska, is now history, but for 450 retarded youth it will remain a vivid experience for months to come. The 31 participants from Lincoln programs brought home 48 Olympic medals (first, second and third places).

It takes many people to make something worthwhile and the Olympic Executive Committee owes a grateful thank you to the news media in Lincoln. All gave us their complete cooperation.

If Lincoln is fortunate to be named as the site of the 1972 Olympics, we hope that many citizens will want to become involved. This track event is not only heart-warming but exciting as well.

The Truth
Lincoln, Neb.

I agree that we as a nation of people should avoid all people who speak untruths, avoid them as much as possible. I am referring to the article about William Lawrence in the June 5 Star.

We adults, although we are only a few who do speak the truth, should do our part toward the proper training and exposing regardless of a person's name or title.

It is no wonder the young are acting as they do, with the unemployment rising as it is. There are ways and means of increasing employment if and when the honest people will speak up.

U.S.-Brazilian Relations Sink Even Lower

By DANIEL DROSDOFF

Rio de Janeiro (UPI) — Diplomatic relations between the United States and Brazil have hit their lowest point of the year and are sinking even lower in the muddy waters off northern Brazil where the Amazon River meets the Atlantic Ocean.

It is in these brown seas, heavy with bacteria and refuse, where the shrimp feed, and fleets of foreign fishing boats — estimates put them at between 400 and 500 — regularly chase them northward along the coast of South America.

The Brazilian navy on June 1 sent out warships from Belem and began giving the fishing boats orders to get out — at least beyond the 200-mile limit which Brazil claims.

The position of the United States is that a 200-mile limit makes a shambles of the principle of freedom of navigation and cannot be recognized.

U.S. negotiators say that if the 200-mile limit was generally accepted, it would shut off the Mediterranean, the Red Sea, the Baltic, and any number of smaller seas and bays, as well as the waters off northern Canada.

Brazilians retort that the shrimp feeding on the Amazon refuse belong only to Brazilian fishing boats and, besides, nine other Latin American republics claim a 200-mile off-shore limit, so why not Brazil?

The fear of U.S. diplomats is that any day now a U.S. shrimp will be seized, although the U.S. boats off Amapa are a minority. Most are from French Guiana, Guyana, and Trinidad-Tobago, as well as from the Soviet Union, Japan and Korea.

If a boat is captured its captain could be sent to jail under Brazilian smuggling laws. The U.S. Congress would be outraged, cries of protest would come from the profitable shrimp industry and the traditional "special relationship" between Brazil and the United States could be severely damaged.

Brazil with 90 million inhabitants, has always had a high priority with U.S. policy makers because of its size; it is larger than the continental United States.

Since the rightist 1964 military revolution that ousted leftist President Joao Goulart, Brazil has received more than $2 billion in U.S. aid. U.S. policy planners have supported Brazil as a barrier against communism in South America.

Brazil's law enforcing its claim to 200 miles off its shore is a tough one. Not only are foreigners barred from fishing for crustaceans, but they are also prohibited from catching any other kind of fish within 100 miles off the shore.

Pollution Information Said Problem

A Xerox Corp. official told the 10th annual meeting of the Nebraska Safety Council Tuesday that the biggest problem faced by industrial environmentalists is public information.

Charles R. McHenry, head of Xerox's environmental health and safety department, said that often the public is wholly unaware of what "environmental hygienists" are doing.

He described the job of an environmental hygienist as finding solutions for industrial pollution problems and seeing that cleanup systems are properly designed, installed and maintained.

The nature of Xerox's photocopying business creates some difficult pollution problems, McHenry said, involving special chemicals and laser light beams.

Considerable research is done by Xerox, he said, to find solutions to these problems.

In other business, the Nebraska Safety Council's annual report described its "first priority" for the year as expansion of defensive driving courses.

Four new driver safety programs were established during the year to this end: in the City of Lincoln Personnel Division, the State Department of Education Pupil Transportation Division, the Platte Valley Life Underwriters Association in North Platte and the Central Nebraska Life Underwriters Association in Kearney.

Study Planned

The safety council also agreed to undertake a long-range study of state highway safety programs across the country for the purpose of recommending the best possible program for Nebraska.

A special report detailing traffic safety legislation passed by the 1971 Unicameral was also presented at the meeting.

Lorne Andrews, vice president of State Farm Insurance in Lincoln, was elected president of the safety council.

Other officers include Dr. Kenneth F. Kimball of Kearney and Cliff Moyer of Omaha, vice presidents, and Stuart Maseman of Lincoln, treasurer.

Postal Employees Are Told To Look At Positive Side

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf told 250 postal employees attending the 36th annual convention of the National Association of Postmasters Tuesday to strive to look at the positive side of things.

"All we hear about is the negative aspects of our society," Schwartzkopf said, adding he still enjoys reading the sports page because it is all about champions and winners.

Schwartzkopf cited the Air Pollution Advisory Board as a positive step being taken to eliminate water, soil, air and visual pollution.

The convention will end Thursday following business meetings and reports from postal officials.

Strode To Be Arraigned Friday In Federal Court

Former Nebraska Welfare Director Harold Strode has been returned to Lincoln and will appear before Federal Judge Warren Urbom Friday, U.S. Attorney Richard Dier's office said Tuesday.

Strode, indicted last October by a federal grand jury on 13 criminal counts which charge that he defrauded the state of Nebraska, is now being held in the Lincoln city jail.

Lincoln Police Sgt. Edwin Winters, the jail's booking officer, said Strode had been returned to Lincoln Monday from Colorado, where he was arrested last month.

Dier's office said Strode will appear Friday at 4:30 p.m. before Judge Urbom in Lincoln.

"We'd like to get him arraigned as soon as possible," said Dier.

Strode and Dr. Bradley Neer were indicted on 13 counts of mail fraud, conspiracy and interstate transportation of stolen securities. The indictments

'Father Of Swing' Is An Apparent Suicide Victim

Palm Springs, Calif. (UPI) — Jazz drummer Ben Pollack, known as the "father of swing" in the 1930s when he led his own band, is dead of an apparent suicide at the age of 67.

Police said Pollack hanged himself in the bathroom of his home here and left two notes complaining of financial and marital problems.

Among those who played with Pollack's band were Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, Matty Matlock, Harry James and Mugsy Spanier.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplante

The morning mail arrives in a sparkling little red-white-and-blue van. It has a right-hand drive. No door. The mailman steps out and stuffs the mail in your sidewalk box.

We keep a door open. An ear tuned to the grind of the mail van. It breaks the morning I can run up the sunny stairs. Get the mail—we get an armful. Then down the stairs. One eye on the stairs, one eye taking quick peeks at the envelopes.

Could be a check. The hopeful Fox of Shady Acres.

The new mail system is improving everything. "The quality of glue on American stamps is better than that of any other country," said the Postoffice.

The new Postoffice is all business. No more featherbedding with employes unions. No postmaster jobs turned over to worthy politicians (So they tell me).

The American glue has the best taste of any stamp glue.

You can buy a machine to lick your stamps and put them on an envelope. How about that? After years of sticking stamps (like Christmas what an aftertaste!)

they develop glue in six delicious flavors.

Then they invent a machine to lick it. (I'm telling you, the machines are really taking over.)

When I was collecting stamps, the village post office was a chummy affair. Our mail came in post office boxes. The box opened with a combination lock: 3 left, 5 right, 2 left — open!

The box had a small glass window. You could look in other boxes. You could not read the addresses. But you could see how much mail people were getting.

I lived in Carmel. A literary community. Most of the residents typed like crazy in the morning — the Carmel woods sounded like a flock of woodpeckers turned loose.

Midway of the morning, they went to the post office, hoping for the check from the New York publishers. They checked other writers' boxes.

"Come over here, Joe. Look, doesn't that look like a Street and Smith envelope? Jeez, do you suppose he sold that piece of junk?"

The French post office came up with blue-uniformed hostesses: "Air mail over here, M'sien." They put in some sexy music on the pipe. Very French.

Women and song — you bring your own wine, Jacques.

The American post office is no-nonsense. Machines. Automation.

Pushing the envelope. Push the buttons. Pull the lever. The machine reads the button request. Chews the envelope. Stamps it correctly. Hands it back with a mechanical sneer. Next!

At the old post office, the writers gathered nervously in the sun. You could peek through the window. See the clerks dropping envelopes in the boxes.

They exchanged information: "I told them: 'Look, three cents a word!'"

After awhile, they went in and opened the boxes — couldn't wait until the clerk was finished. And on great days, somebody would rip open an envelope and cry: "Check! check!"

Everybody would rush over and pound him on the back. The lucky writer went out and bought a lot of bootleg gin. And that night, the literary set went to his house and got drunk as fiddlers. Gay days!

HUD Tentatively Picks Developers

Tentative selection of developers to build the first single family public housing homes in the city was made by the Omaha regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Tuesday.

The 120 low-rent homes are to be built for the Lincoln Housing Authority under the turnkey program. The program calls for private developers on a competitive basis to provide the lots, prepare the home designs and construct the homes.

Richard Burke, executive director of the Housing Authority, said the four developers tentatively selected were ones recommended for approval by the Housing Authority.

Those tentatively selected to build packages of 24 homes are Hub Hall, Pederson Construction Co. and Lou Sommerhauser, Duane Larson Construction Co. and Erik Hansen.

Burke said that HUD has also authorized the Housing Authority to proceed with advertising for proposals for a 120-unit high-rise for the elderly to be built under the turnkey program. The executive director said an ad for proposals will be run on Sunday.

The executive director said that approval of the developers selected is not final. Another developer's proposal could be considered should a selected developer's proposal prove to be unfeasible, he said.

Burke said that the okay by HUD on the developers merely allows the Housing Authority to proceed with negotiations with the developers at individual conferences.

At the conferences, the Housing Authority and HUD representatives will meet with the developers to negotiate purchase price of the land and to refine details of the project design, criteria and costs.

The homes, which are to be built on a scattered site basis throughout the city, will range in cost between $18,000 and $20,000, said Burke.

All four developers were authorized to build three-bedroom homes.

Hansen was also given tentative approval to go ahead with a package of 19 four-bedroom and 5 five-bedroom homes.

Burke said the homes should be ready for occupancy in 12 to 15 months if plans proceed smoothly.

18-Year-Old Youth Files For GOP Delegate Position

Nebraska's 18-to-21 year old residents, voting for the first time in national elections next year, will be able to help send one of their own to the Republican Party's presidential nominating convention.

Frederick Grady, 18, of Broken Bow, has filed with Secretary of State Allen Beermann's office as a delegate on the Republican Party's slate of delegates to be chosen in next May's primary.

By law, all delegates to the two major conventions from Nebraska are chosen by voters in the primary.

Beermann's office reported that Grady is the first person to file as a delegate from either party.

Grady filed Monday from the Third Congressional District and listed himself as committed to President Nixon, the secretary of state's office reported.

Meyer Thinks Congress Must Act To Stop Flood Of Criminal Appeals

Congress, rather than state legislatures, must act if the flood of criminal case appeals is to be slowed, according to Nebraska Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer.

"Congress must limit habeas corpus appeals of state prisoners to federal courts," Meyer said.

Last week, the Nebraska Supreme Court urged legislative action to hold down the increase in "frivolous" criminal conviction appeals.

Because indigent persons can secure publicly-financed legal help in pressing appeals, the court said those convicted of crimes have nothing to lose making appeals based on alleged constitutional defects in their prosecutions.

Nebraska enacted post-conviction legislation during the past decade and "we thought that would solve the problem but it hasn't," Meyer said.

The post-conviction statute allows persons to appeal who feel that their constitutional rights were abridged in a prosecution.

Hall Challenges Murder Conviction

An Omaha man convicted of first-degree murder six years ago Monday informed the State Supreme Court he will file an appeal under the state's post-conviction act.

Nathaniel Lawrence Hall was convicted of the Aug. 18, 1964 first-degree murder of Joseph Kellinghaus and was sentenced to life imprisonment at the State Penitentiary.

Hall was convicted of first-degree murder while in the commission of a robbery.

Hall contends he was represented by the Douglas County public defender's office and was told to plead guilty in order to get the charge dropped to manslaughter.

Hall did plead guilty and now bases his appeal on the contention that his plea was induced.

Nebraska-Born Educator Alvin Johnson, 96, Dies

©The New York Times

New York — Dr. Alvin Johnson, 96, a founder of the New School for Social Research here and a leader in American education, died Monday at his home in Upper Nyack, N.Y. He had been president emeritus of the New School since 1945.

The institution is generally regarded as one of the foremost adult education centers in the country. Initially concerned with social sciences, it gradually added courses in the humanities and in the creative and performing arts.

When Hitler seized power in Germany in 1933 and began persecuting non-Nazi intellectuals, Johnson initiated a fund to rescue these scholars. A group of them was brought to the New School in October 1933 and established as a "university in exile." This became the foundation of the school's graduate faculty of political and social science, which conferred M.A. and Ph.D. degrees.

Born On Homer Farm

Johnson was born Dec. 18, 1874, on a farm near Homer, Neb. His rural upbringing remained deeply ingrained, and until a few years ago he chopped wood for his fireplace. Habits of independence were also inculcated in his boyhood, which made him a notable non-conformist.

For example, he saw nothing wrong in keeping his children away from any formal schooling. His wife, the late Dr. Edith Henry Johnson, educated them at home.

"In a home with many children," Johnson once said, "it is possible to give a child a far richer educational fare than a school can give, provided the mother is a natural teacher. The first contact my children have had with the formal educational system has followed upon entrance into college."

Life Full of Zest

For Johnson, life was full of meaning and zest. Years never dimmed his curiosity, nor clouded his keen insight. Although technically he had retired from active work, he never stopped writing, teaching and helping good causes.

By the time the young Nebraska farmer was 18 he decided he needed more schooling. He enrolled at the University of Nebraska, first as a pre-medical student, but soon changed to the humanities. Latin and Greek became his first loves. Tacitus and Thucydides he affectionately called "two friends of mine."

This was the end of a farm career, the start of a rapidly paced, checkered career as sociologist, journalist, teacher, editor, humanitarian. After service in the Spanish-American War, he managed to find enough money to go to Columbia University, where he received a Ph.D.

Then began an academic period in his life that earned him the title of peripatetic professor.

Taught At NU

He taught successively — and successfully — at Bryn Mawr College, Columbia University and the Universities of Nebraska, Texas, Chicago, Stanford and Cornell.

Besides his many activities as an educator, he found time to do considerable writing.

He wrote close to 1,000 articles, although he published only a few books. His best-known book is "Pioneer's Progress," a story of his life. He also wrote two novels, "The Professor and the Petticoat" and "Spring Storm."

Johnson is survived by two sons and daughters.

MARY AND STANLEY REUNITED

Mary James of East Lansing, Mich., holds her pet sheep dog Stanley J. Whuppy, who has been missing for a month from her parents' home in Grand Rapids. Stanley, whose friends call him an ice cream cone moocher, vanished while Mary's parents were babysitting for him. Search for Stanley stirred a lot of interest, ending happily with his return in Grand Rapids amid reports he had used his begging talents to survive.

Law Training Expansion Planned

By United Press International
State Crime Commission Director Duane Nelson said Tuesday expansion of the Nebraska law enforcement officer training center program is being considered, including the addition of a narcotics course.

Nelson said plans are being finalized for several additions to and expansions of the existing program being offered at the center, located at Grand Island.

"Training in narcotics is one of those under consideration," he said.

There have been classes offered by various federal government agencies for law enforcement officers in the past, but the center has not had one of its own geared to Nebraska laws and needs, Nelson said.

Driver Charged In Crash Fatal To Naval Officer

Sidney (P) — Bond has been set at $1,000 for Eusebio Montoya, 17, of Potter, charged with motor vehicle homicide in connection with a fatal accident last Friday.

Montoya was charged after Joseph S. Bosshardt, 20, a Navy lieutenant junior grade from Bloomington, Ill., was killed in a two-car collision on U.S. 30 near Potter.

Cheyenne County Judge Sydney Finch ordered Montoya to District Court on the charge.

year the center has been in operation has been on "basic law enforcement training," he said.

He said the course expansion plans are being brought about through the needs uncovered during the initial year of operation, and through recommendations from the center's advisory board and its director, Arthur Lightfoot.

Nelson added the expansion is not related to the commission's takeover of the center on July 1, at the direction of the 1971 Legislature.

Swanson To Speak

State Sen. William Swanson will be the guest speaker at the Thursday noon meeting of the Optimist Club of Lincoln. Swanson will discuss the last legislative session and what he foresees in the interim period before the next regular session.

Gov. Exon Pondering Pay Boost

By The Associated Press

Within the next month, Gov. J. J. Exon is expected to make a preliminary decision on what kind of salary increase should be permitted state employees during the 1972-73 fiscal year.

By July 15, state agencies are scheduled to be supplied with forms and guidelines for making the 1972-73 budget requests. Those guidelines, according to Executive Budget Officer Darrell Stotts, "will have cost and salary" allowance instructions.

While it is anticipated cost-of-operation increases will be keyed to Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, "there has been no determination yet" by the Exon administration on a pay increase policy.

Exon asked — and was granted by the Legislature — money to hike the salary of each state worker $300 beginning in the next fiscal year July 1. However, he said his increase did not require a blanket increase of $300 per worker but "we are leaving the determination of those increases to the discretion of the department heads."

In its omnibus budget act, the Legislature declared its "intent" that workers receiving $7,000 or less annually should be granted the $300 increases.

Stotts said his office was seeking a clarification from the legislative fiscal analyst's office as to what the legislative action means.

The increase to workers making $7,000 or less was contained in the bill under a heading which read "for information purposes only."

Terminated Teacher Files Amended Court Complaint

A Lincoln teacher whose contract has been terminated by the Board of Education Tuesday filed an amended complaint in U.S. District Court, where he has a suit pending charging his rights have been violated.

The amended complaint does little more than bring up to date the former charges, which were filed before a public hearing at which the board voted to relieve Robert L. Johnson from his duties effective this fall.

Johnson, a tenured teacher with the school district for more than 20 years, taught junior high mathematics last year at Millard Leffer Junior High.

The district has charged him with incompetency and failure to give evidence of professional growth. Those allegations were sustained by the board after the hearing.

In the amended complaint, Johnson reiterated his charge that the board denied him his rights to due process and asked that he be restored to his teaching post.

He had attempted previously to delay the hearing, but the court ordered it to be held. Johnson's attorney, Robert Grimit, contended throughout the hearing that most of the evidence against his client was based on hearsay information.

County Defers Action On Transfer Of Funds

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday deferred action on a request to transfer $100,000 from the inheritance tax fund to the Lancaster Manor fund to finish the current fiscal year.

The commissioners referred the matter to the county attorney after questions arose as to the legality of transferring the money.

According to Commissioner Kenneth Bourne, sufficient money was budgeted but that a shortage exists because the budget reflected anticipated income from patients which is below estimates.

The commissioners have estimated that Lancaster Manor will need a patient load of 100 to break even in operating costs, but now has about 85 which is the most it has had during the current fiscal year.

In other business, the board asked to see more definite plans before making a requested commitment on providing $75,000 in county money to match a $75,000 grant which may be available through the Nebraska Crime Commission for construction of a juvenile detention facility for the county.

Bill Janike, chief juvenile probation officer, told the board that the Crime Commission's comprehensive plan calls for an allocation of $75,000 in matching money for a detention facility for Lancaster County.

Board Chairman Bourne told Janike that funds may be "tight" for the 1971-72 fiscal year and that he would want to see some architect's plans before making a commitment on behalf of the county.

Janike said he felt that such a structure could be built for about $150,000.

The commissioners were also informed by County Engineer Walter Hoppe that the flashing yellow and red signal for 70th and Pioneers approved by the board earlier would be installed within the next 30 to 60 days.

Many residents have complained that the intersection is a dangerous one because of heavy traffic and poor visibility and the commissioners agreed to install the light in an attempt to prevent accidents.

Hoppe said the signal would cost $1,129.

Officers Of New Bank Announced

Marvin E. Jewell, president of the Bank of Lincoln, has announced stockholders and officers for the new organization.

Jewell's charter application for location at 70th and O Sts. was announced last week.

Stockholders are Duane Ackie, Charles Knight, G. A. Dunlap, Robert Weigel, George Knight, Jay L. Dunlap, Richard A. Peterson, John Knight, Maynard Dunlap and Jewell.

Officers besides Jewell include G. A. Dunlap, vice president and Ross Wilcox, cashier.

The new bank has a capitalization of $650,000 and lists the same directors as stockholders.

Another organization, Lincoln Bank East, was denied a charter application for the same location last December.

Naming the State Banking Department, Haylock Bank, Gateway Bank, Citizens State Bank and Union Bank and Trust Co. all of which opposed issuance of the charter at 70th & O, Lincoln Bank East took the matter to court. Action is still pending.

The option for land at 70 & O has lapsed, according to Glen Yaussi, president of Lincoln Bank East. He said the corporation is exercising an option on another site in the same general area.

Yaussi said he expected arrangements for purchase to be final in the next 30 to 45 days.

Greater Nebraska Corp. Post Goes To J. Morten

The president of Great West Casualty Co., Joe W. Morten, was elected to the newly established office of chairman of the executive committee Tuesday during the Greater Nebraska Corp. (GNC) annual meeting.

His corporate office, replacing the office of vice president, was created Tuesday when the board of directors voted to change the corporation's bylaws.

Officers re-elected at the luncheon meeting include Ray Peake of Chester, chairman of the board; H. A. Zethren, president; R. A. McDaniel, secretary-treasurer.

The annual meeting followed the annual stockholders' meeting at the Lincoln Hotel.

Zethren said in his address to stockholders that first quarter earnings per share more than doubled over the figure from the first quarter of 1970. Earnings rose from 36 to 76 cents. After-tax earnings climbed during the same period, from $89,955 to $353,163.

Stockholders elected six new members to the board of directors, increasing it in size from nine to 15 members. They also re-elected three directors.

The new members: C. F. Fitch, Sioux City, Iowa, and Wayne Dornberger, Sioux Falls, S.D., both three-year terms; Robert Rydman, Lincoln, and Paul Colburn, Seward, both two-year terms; Morten and Rodney Smith, both South Sioux City, one-year terms.

Holdover directors, all elected for three years, include Simon Korshoj, Blair; Floyd Pohlman, Auburn, and Duane Colburn, Sac City, Iowa.

Jury Acquits Fremont Man Of Kidnaping, Robbery, Theft

Omaha (AP) — A Douglas County District Court jury has acquitted 25-year-old Donald A. Etherington of Fremont of charges of kidnaping, robbery and auto theft.

Etherington was accused of accosting Mrs. Shirley A. Jacobsen, 35, of Omaha and forcing her at gunpoint to drive several blocks from the store where she works.

She testified she got out of the car and the man drove away, returning the car to the store parking lot after taking $40 worth of groceries from the car.

Mrs. Jacobsen said she saw Etherington a month later in the store and pointed him out to police, who arrested him.

Mrs. Margaret W. Reigle, 49, also of Omaha, identified Etherington as a man who had accosted her in a similar incident about two weeks later, forcing her to drive from a supermarket and then ordering her from the car. The vehicle was found later with groceries missing.

Etherington and his wife, Patty, testified that he was on the farm where he lives at the times the incidents occurred. A friend testified he saw and talked to Etherington by telephone on both days and a Fremont barber testified Etherington got his hair cut on March 14, before the reported incident.

Washington (UPI) — One-hundred and forty-six persons have been involved in 113 U.S. airline hijackings since 1961, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) said Tuesday. Ninety-two of them are still at large.

In issuing a statistical breakdown of the hijacking problem, the FAA said 23 persons have been convicted for air piracy and related crimes and are serving sentences totalling more than 350 years in prison.

Dinner To Honor Dana President

Dr. Madden will step down from his job July 1 after having been associated with the college for over 30 years.

He was named president in 1958, holding the post 15 years.

Bogus Policemen Collecting Fines

Paintsville, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky State Police are searching for persons who, dressed as policemen, have been stopping motorists and issuing on-the-spot fines.

Several travelers, mostly from out-of-state, have reported being stopped and told to pay fines of $10.50 for speeding.

Victims say the impersonators work in pairs, dressed in Khaki uniforms, and have blue flashing lights on their cars.

Furniture Sales Up

Bonn — West German furniture manufacturers increased their sales 16% to $2.05 billion last year.

China Omits Usual Claim To Formosa

Vienna, Austria (AP) — Mainland China agreed to drop mention of its claim to sovereignty over Formosa when it established diplomatic relations with Austria last month, Austrian Foreign Minister Rudolph Kirchslager disclosed Tuesday.

He told the Austrian parliament that China at first had agreed to diplomatic negotiations subject to Austria's acceptance of "certain lasting principles."

Kirchslager said Austria replied that because of its neutral policies it could not agree to Peking's claim over Formosa, the island occupied by Nationalist China. China then accepted a joint communiqué omitting mention of Formosa.

In China's previous recognition agreements with Italy and Canada, the communiques had included a statement that Peking considered Formosa to be part of its territory, he said.

The minister said the absence of any reference to Formosa, and China's expressed respect for Austria's neutrality, would be of special significance once China was seated in the United Nations Security Council.

Brides At Tuesday Weddings

The wedding of Miss Kathryn Lee Weisensel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Weisensel of Rochester, N.Y., and Michael John Magwire, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Magwire, took place on Tuesday evening, June 8, at the Hope Lutheran Church in Rochester, N.Y.

Alike frocks of pastel blue voile were chosen for the attendants, including Miss Marilyn Seim of Chapman and Mrs. George C. Weisensel of Rochester, N.Y., the honor attendants; bridesmaid Mrs. Andrew Eggleston of Rochester, N.Y.; and Miss Kathleen Mundt of Fort Wayne, Ind.

David Magwire served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included: Amandus Derr of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Randhal Magwire, and George C. Weisensel of Rochester, N.Y.

The bride appeared in a gown of peau de soie and Venetian lace. A panel of the lace, interwoven with blue satin ribbon, extended from the neckline of the fitted bodice to the hemline of the A-line skirt which was completed with a cathedral train. The ribboned lace fashioned the mandarin neckline and was repeated in ruffled cuffs on the short sleeves. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held in place with a Camelot cap, and she carried a lace-covered prayer book and a single yellow rose.

The bride was graduated from St. John's College in Winfield, Kan., and careered with the Eastman Kodak Co. in New York.

Mr. Magwire was graduated from St. John's College in Winfield, Kan., and the Concordia Senior College in Fort Wayne, Ind. He will continue his education at Concordia Theological Seminary in St. Louis, Mo.

At a 7:30 o'clock ceremony on Tuesday evening, June 8, the marriage of Miss Mary Jo Brehm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brehm, to David Charles Livingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Livingston of Mahaska, Kan., took place at Grace Lutheran Church.

Alike, floor-length frocks of lilac satin organza and Venise lace in the purple shade were worn by the attendants, including Miss Debby Brehm, who was her sister's maid of honor; and bridesmaids Miss Maria Kerr of Columbia, Mo., and Miss Brenda Beck. They carried bouquets of pompons in orchid and purple tones.

Steve Sanderson served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Henry Camp, Eric Hoiberg, the Rev. George Martin, and Kim Busch of Milligan.

The bride chose a gown of organza fashioned in the A-line Empire mode. Venise lace accented the bodice and the high collar and was repeated to cuff the full-length Bishop sleeves. Beneath the high waistline, the skirt was in the A-line mode and was completed with a train of chapel length. A bandeau held in place her waist-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white roses and odontoglossum orchids.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Europe, Mr. Livingston and his bride will reside in Emporia, Kan., where Mr. Livingston is an instructor at Emporia State College. The bride was graduated from the University and has taught in Murry. Mr. Livingston was graduated from the University of Missouri and received his Master's degree from the University of Nebraska.

ABBY: hold your head up—and high

DEAR ABBY: What can you say to a 25-year-old daughter who has decided to live with her boy friend?

We brought Maria up as a moral Catholic. Her boy friend is of the same faith. He and his wife are legally separated. They have three children.

I have tried to tell Maria that if her friend really loved her he would get a divorce and marry her. We have other children, but Maria is the oldest and the apple of her father's eye. This affair is just about killing us. Until this happened Maria never gave us any trouble. We were so proud of her. She graduated from college with honors. Now she teaches retarded children.

We are so ashamed to face family and friends, we refuse all social events. I know Maria reads your column. Maybe there is something you can say to her. I've tried everything I know. Thank you.

MARIA'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I have nothing to say to Maria because she didn't ask me for any advice, but I have something to say to you, Mother: You reared your daughter to the best of your ability, and from your letter I would say you did a commendable job. Maria is an adult now, and you are not responsible for her decisions. Those who know you and love you will not think less of you because of your daughter's actions. Hold your head high, and if anyone attempts to needle you, say: "She is our daughter and we love her, even though we disagree on many things."

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have six daughters. Never had any boys, but all the girls are nice. My wife gets along fine with everybody. She has never said a mean word about anybody, and she won't listen to gossip. I have a pretty good job, and our home is paid for. So what's my problem? Our eldest daughter got married and she had a baby boy. When our son-in-law called and told us we had a GRANDSON I had to help my wife sit down.

The baby can't even sit up yet and my wife has bought him shirts with "I love grandma" on the front. She also went to the jewelry store and had them put her grandson's picture on some earrings and a pin. (Have you ever seen earrings and a pin with a fat boy's picture on them?) This may seem petty to you, but I wonder if she hasn't lost her mind?

GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: After six girls, I don't blame her.

Know Your Antiques

Toy trains have intrigued all ages of boys. This cast iron train was painted red and black with gold trim when it was made about 1880. It was made to roll on the floor, not on a track. (Index of American Design, Washington, D.C.)

By RALPH AND TERRY KOVEL

Are the toys today more easily destroyed because they are made of plastic or were children of past centuries more careful of their belongings because toys were so scarce? Today's collector can thank whatever the reason because toys do exist in good condition from the past 200 years. Toy collecting has become an important hobby with the dolls, tin toys and mechanical banks of the 19th century leading in popularity and cost. Even Walt Disney and comic strip character inspired toys of the 1940s are becoming important to toy enthusiasts. Toys tell the history of the social customs of a day.

George Brown was one of the most interesting makers of 19th century toys. He worked as a clockmaker's apprentice in Logansville, Conn. in 1845. Brown began his own company in 1856 and made tin toys as well as clocks. Many of his toys were tin with clock-like gears and springs. Fate assisted his toy business. The discovery of oil for use in home lighting led him to make brass lamps. He then used brass in his toys' mechanisms. The company was purchased by the Bristol Brass Co. He later joined J. and E. S. to open a new toy factory in 1869 in Cromwell, Conn. Brown invented, designed and manufactured all types of toys. He is known to collectors as one of the most important American toy makers.

Q My seed pearl necklace looks almost like lace. It is broken and I can't find anyone to fix it. Could you tell me how it was made?

A The elaborate seed pearl jewelry came into vogue during the 1840s. Tiny pearls were strung on white horse hair. Larger sections of the pieces were made by sewing small pearls onto pieces of mother-of-pearl. When the horsehair thread broke, the repairs are difficult. A skilled needlewoman might try to sew the tiny pearls back in place with a fine nylon thread. It is a tedious and difficult job requiring great skill. We know of very few places in the United States where this jewelry can be repaired professionally. European jewelers still can do it.

Q What is Warwick China? I have a brown pitcher with an Indian pictured on it. The mark on the bottom reads Warwick.

A The Warwick China Company worked in Wheeling, West Virginia in 1897. The company made many varieties of this brown glazed porcelain.

Q My rolling pin seems to have a strange form. It is in a holder with a handle that is parallel to the rolling pin. It almost looks like a towel holder.

A You own a rare type of rolling pin. It is called a "winger type" because it looks like clothes wringer. They were made during the middle of the 19th century.

BOOK REVIEW

"The George Brown Toy Sketchbook" is a reprint of a book of watercolor designs for toys made in the 1850s to 1860s in Connecticut. This large book with 58 color plates could be cut up and framed or kept as a valued reference book for toy collectors. (Pine Press, Princeton, New Jersey, $25.00). A must for toy collectors.

Two new price books filled with color pictures will also interest toy collectors. "Dolls And Miniatures With Their Prices At Auction" and "Toys And Banks With Their Prices

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

It happens quite often that declarer is in greater danger if one opponent, rather than the other, obtains the lead. A failure to appreciate this resulted in South's defeat on the accompanying hand.

Declarer won the diamond lead with the jack and, in an effort to ruff his heart losers in dummy, played a low heart at trick two.

East won with the eight and returned a trump. South did the best he could when he went up with the ace, ruffed a heart, ruffed a club, and ruffed another heart, but all this came to naught when he eventually lost a spade, a diamond and another heart to go down one.

Declarer did not give himself the best chance for the contract. His plan to ruff hearts in dummy was fine, but he should have led the king of hearts at trick two to accomplish this, not the deuce.

New Kid In Camp Makes Hit With Youngsters At Coliseum

A new kid showed up in camp Tuesday night and the word spread quickly across the NU Coliseum basketball courts as the youngsters, who had been in Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano's basketball school since Sunday, ran from all corners of the gym to flock around him.

But as thrilled as the 100 or so youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 16, were to see Baltimore Bullets star Gus Johnson, there was one man, who wouldn't have been thrilled at all to see Johnson on a basketball court.

"If my doctor knew I was doing this, he would have a fit," Johnson explained, referring to an operation on both knees only three weeks ago.

Johnson had been sidelined frequently during the latter portion of the past National Basketball Association season and through the playoffs which the Bullets lost to Milwaukee.

And when he did play, he played in pain. "After the doctor finished cutting on me three weeks ago," Johnson points out, "he told me it was something that should have been done three months earlier."

"By playing, I don't know if it meant I was dedicated or if it proved that I'm the dumbest guy in the world. It was aggravating to go out there and try to play and not be able to play 100% up to my potential."

"But it was tougher to sit on the bench and watch my teammates out there playing without me."

When he did play, it generally meant a painful draining process of fluid from the knees and Johnson admits he's scared to death of needles.

"You should see the size of the needle," he says, shuddering at the thought. "When they go down into the joint, you want to go through the ceiling. Here I am, a big, 6-6, 235-pound cat and there's a little nurse watching me cry."

A Favor To Joe

So why would a guy with knees looking like your wife's embroidered pillow cases with 20 stitches in one knee and 17 in the other be out there on the NU Coliseum floor cavorting for a large group of youngsters?

"Only for Joe, would I do it," he explains, referring to Cipriano, his college coach at the University of Idaho.

SPORT SIGNALS

By Hal Brown
Sports Editor, The Star

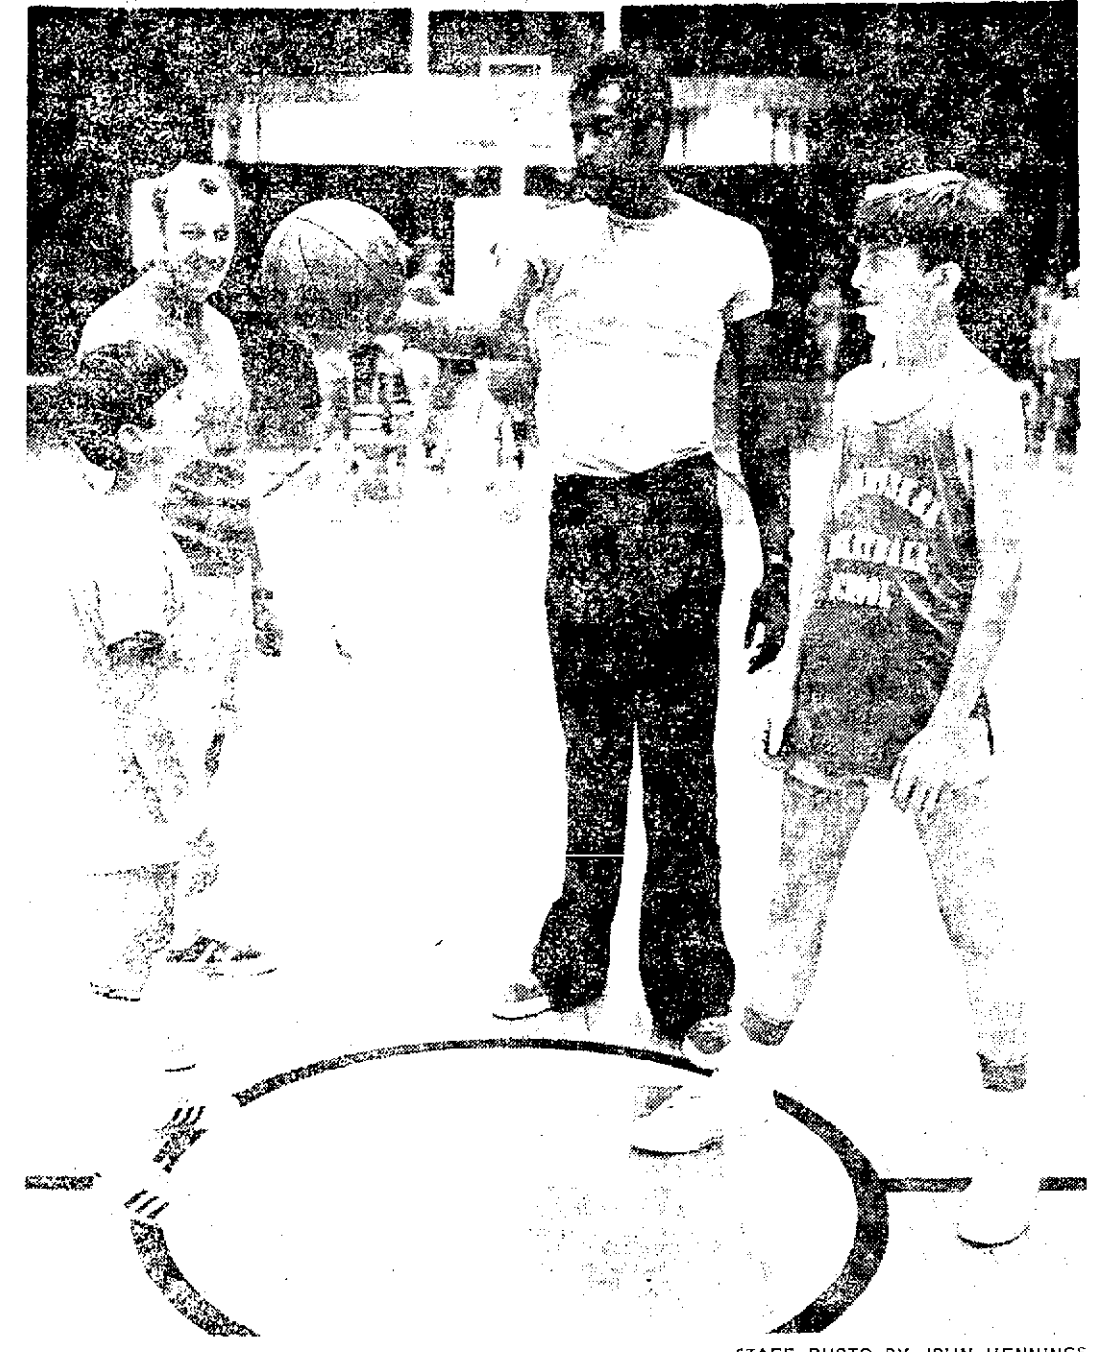

"I flat turned him down once and I've turned down at least 10 other offers from other people."

"But coach Cipriano did so much for me at Idaho that even by coming out here and doing this, it's still not enough to pay off the debt I owe him."

And Gus emphasizes that he's not just talking about what the Husker coach did for him on the basketball court.

"He taught me to be a man, too," says Johnson. "I was like a lot of youngsters. I was cocky and wild, but coach Cipriano talked to me like a son."

—RIO GRANDE VALLEY CLUB FACES SALUKIS— Pan Am Making 1st CWS Appearance

Edinburg, Tex. — Pan American University's hungry strangers from the Rio Grande take their first taste of the College World Series this weekend in Omaha.

Pan Am bites off a tough and Omaha-tested rival, Southern Illinois, in the first round at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Most of the young baseball players from the southern tip of Texas never will have been that far north in their lives — much less to Omaha. Only Coach Al Ogletree, celebrating his 20th anniversary of a trip to Omaha as Texas A&M's all-Southwest Conference catcher in 1951, never has tasted college baseball's big apple before.

Yet the Broncs fought to Omaha the hard way — over the stunned bodies of the Texas Longhorns, whom they blanked twice in the NCAA District 6 finals at San Antonio, 1-0 and 4-0. Texas was gunning for a record fourth straight trip to Omaha. Instead, the Longhorns suffered their first double shoutout in 62 years.

Pitching, speed and defense give the somewhat light-hitting Broncs hopes of pulling off another surprise of the tournament-tested old names at Omaha.

Seven of the nation's best teams, survivors of regional playoffs which produced other major upsets, await Pan Am's first look at the big time.

Southern Illinois, like Pan Am, knocked off a nationally ranked team to reach Omaha.

The Salukis from Southern Illinois survived the District 4 free-for-all in East Lansing, Mich., where No. 3 ranked Michigan State, the Big 10 champion, bit the dust along with No. 6 Ohio University and unranked Cincinnati. Southern Illinois is rated No. 7, and Pan Am No. 2. In the latest national poll by Collegiate Baseball.

However, Southern Illinois has been to Omaha twice before. The Salukis lost to Southern California (No. 1 this year, and the team to beat at Omaha) in the 1968 championship finals, 4-3.

Left-hander Dick Langdon (11-1) probably will pitch for Southern Illinois against Pan Am's right-handed ace, Lupe Salinas (12-1). Langdon, a senior, is an outstanding prospect with his 1.92 earned-run average. Salinas, only a sophomore, has a 1.55 ERA.

Although Pan Am owns a slightly better record, 42-7 to Southern Illinois' 40-7, the hitting statistics definitely favor the Salukis.

Six Salukis are batting well over .300. Centerfielder Jim Dwyer has a .415 average; second baseman Duane Kuiper, .390; third baseman Mike Eden, .370; right fielder Bob Blakeley, .351; first baseman Dan Thomas, .348; and catcher Bob Sedik, .342.

Only two Broncs are hitting over .300 — centerfielder James Tyrone at .368 and third baseman Reggie Tredaway at .302. The platooned catchers are close — David Armstrong at .294 and Bill Chandler .279.

Speed has saved many games for Pan Am. But Southern Illinois has stolen 119 bases, 14 more than Pan Am's total of 105. Nearly all the Salukis are threats to steal. Tyrone is Pan Am's chief threat; he has 51 stolen bases to runner-up Mike Duffey's 13.

Ogletree is counting on pitching depth from his young but tempered mound staff. Besides Salinas, Gary Doyle (10-1), Andre Rabouin (7-2) and Powell Brown (5-1) all have thrown more than 60 innings this season. Relief ace Bruno Cavazos picked up his 5-1 record in a mere 19 1-3 innings. Ricky Soliz is 2-0 in 21 innings.

Doyle probably will pitch for Pan Am Sunday. If the Broncs survive at Omaha beyond two games, Monday's pitcher figures to be Rabouin or Brown.

Ward's Homer Lifts Omaha Past Wichita

Omaha (AP) — John Ward's two-run homer in the first inning gave Omaha a 2-0 American Association baseball victory over Wichita Tuesday night.

Royals' righthander Jerry Cram held Wichita to three hits.

John Matias singled ahead of Ward's homer to run his hitting streak to 74 consecutive games.

Cram retired the first nine men he faced before Kris Krebs singled. Krebs singled again in the sixth, and Frank Baker got Wichita's only other safety, a single in the seventh.

"He talked to me like he would to Randy (Cipriano's son) and he showed me that I had a great future as a pro basketball player if I straightened up."

Wants To Show Others

The reason Johnson now spends his off seasons working with youngsters in camps such as Cipriano's is that he hopes to be able to straighten others out the way he was.

"I started working with youngsters under the mayor's program in my hometown of Akron, Ohio, five years ago," he relates. "I was a ghetto baby and for that reason, I think I'm able to express myself to others from the ghetto."

"A lot of pro athletes might be bigger stars, but they aren't able to relate because the youngster asks himself, 'What does he know about life in the ghetto. He's never been there.'"

Johnson carries a reputation for being one of the strongest forwards in pro basketball and he admits he's often asked by writers how he got to be so strong.

"When you grow up in a ghetto," he explains, "everything you do is physical. You play on cinders. While kids in better neighborhoods are going to swimming pools, you're going to the canal to swim."

"I haven't forgotten that I came from a ghetto and I'm not running away from my people, who still live in ghettos. I go back to the ghettos and try to help the people there."

When he visits camps such as the one in Lincoln, he's there for more than just basketball, just as he claims Cipriano did things for him that weren't directly connected with basketball.

"There's more to life than just being a basketball star," he points out. "You've got to be a man first. There are some youngsters — I like to refer to them as neon lovers because they come out when the neon lights go on at night and they chase around all night."

"But because of their great ability, they're still able to perform well in athletics despite their way of life, but I think the ones with less ability, who work hard to make it, are the important ones."

Straightening 'Em Out

As Cipriano excused himself explaining he had to go get his basketball shoes on, Johnson inquired. "You're gonna do what?"

"I've got to go get ready for tonight's session with the boys," Joe explained.

"Oh, I thought you were talking about challenging me again like you used to do at Idaho when I used to have to straighten you out once in awhile," Johnson joked.

Right now, though, his primary interest is in straightening out youngsters.

"I hope my knees will let me play two more years so I can qualify for the NBA pension plan," he points out. "Then I want to go into working full time with youngsters."

The new kid in camp was an immediate hit Tuesday night at the NU Coliseum.

ROYALS BEAT SENATORS

. . . Omaha's Splitterff Wins First In Majors

By Associated Press

Ed Kirkpatrick doubled in two runs and left-handed Paul Splitterff won his first major league game with the help of Ted Abernathy as the Kansas City Royals defeated the Washington Senators 4-2 Tuesday night.

In other action Baltimore whipped Minnesota 8-2, Cleveland edged Chicago 5-3, Houston blanked the faltering Cincinnati Reds 2-0, Atlanta nipped St. Louis 8-7 in 10 innings, Los Angeles stopped Philadelphia 4-2, the New York Mets tripped San Diego 6-4, Montreal blasted San Francisco and Juan Marichal 10-3, the Chicago Cubs slipped by Pittsburgh 1-0 in the twelve and Detroit clubbed Milwaukee 8-3.

Splitterff, recalled from Omaha of the American Association May 29, was making his first start. He allowed five hits, struck out two and walked two in 7 2-3 innings.

The triumph was the Royals' eighth in their last 10 games.

Kirkpatrick's hit, his second of the game, climaxed a three-run uprising in the third inning, helped by two Washington errors.

Mark Belanger and Don Buford drove in two runs each during a five-run second inning as the streaking Baltimore Orioles whipped the Minnesota Twins 8-2 behind Pat Dobson.

After the first of Dave Johnson's three hits snapped a scoreless tie in the second, Belanger doubled in two more and Buford's eighth home run completed the rally which chased loser Bert Blyleven, 6-7.

Roy Foster clouted a three-run home run in the second inning to start Sam McDowell and the Indians on their way over the Chicago White Sox.

Foster's homer, his fourth, came after Chris Chambliss and Ken Harrelson hit successive singles off Chicago starter Wilbur Wood, 4-3, and gave the Indians a 3-0 lead.

Don Wilson fired a five-hitter to win a pitching duel with Gary Nolan as the Astros beat the Reds.

Wilson, 5-3, struck out eight and walked only one in besting Nolan, 3-7, who allowed only six hits in his seven innings of work.

The loss for the defending National League champions was their sixth in eight games.

Pinch-hitter Darrell Evans delivered the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning, lifting the Braves over St. Louis.

Jackson from third. Jackson moved over from second on a sacrifice after running for Earl Williams, who had opened the inning with a double.

The Cardinals tied it 7-7 with a four-run eighth inning, three of which scored on throwing errors by third baseman Earl Williams and first baseman Orlando Cepeda.

Jim Lefebvre delivered a two-run homer in the sixth inning as the Dodgers whipped the Phillies.

Lefebvre's fifth circuit blast of the year gave the Dodgers a 3-0 lead before Willie Montanez slammed a two-run shot for the Phillies in their half of the inning.

Jerry Grote cracked three hits, snapping an 0-for-14 slump, as the Mets defeated the Padres.

Grote drove in one run and scored another as Gary Gentry and Danny Frisella combined for the victory. Gentry worked the first seven innings, earning his fifth victory.

Joe Pepitone slashed his seventh home run into the right field seats in the 12th inning and gave no-hit pitcher Ken Holtzman and the Chicago Cubs a 1-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday.

The Montreal Expos rocked Juan Marichal for five runs in the first four innings and rode Bill Stoneman's 13-strikeout pitching over San Francisco.

Montreal jumped on Marichal, 8-4, after Stoneman struck out the side in the top of the first.

The loss trimmed the Giants' lead over Los Angeles in the National League West to seven games.

Ray Culp pitched a three-hitter, striking out 11 to give the Boston Red Sox a 5-1 victory over Oakland and snap the A's five-game winning streak.

Hergert, Rodgers Pace Junior Golf Qualifying

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

John Hergert, who just finished the eighth grade at Irving Junior High, and Mark Rodgers, an East High sophomore-to-be, tied for medalist honors during the Capital City qualifying round for the Junior State Golf Championships at Holmes Course Tuesday.

Hergert and Rodgers both posted 79s, while Doug Smith, Marion Walker and Clint Dudley, each with an 80, grabbed the other spots allotted to Lincoln for the state meet, to be played over the same layout next week.

Hergert, who had a 76 at Holmes earlier in the spring, said he and Rodgers played a final tuneup round together on Monday. "We were both hitting the ball pretty well. Though we didn't play in the same foursome for the qualifying, Mark obviously continued to score well, too."

Rodgers came within one shot of his all-time best. "I had a 78 here at Holmes recently," he said. "With this kind of scoring I suppose I could have made the East High Varsity," he admitted. "I just hope to keep playing as well or better so as to make the team next year as a sophomore."

Dudley, who made the all-city team as a Southeast sophomore this spring, wasn't happy with his round but pleased to make the state meet.

"I guess the main object was to advance to the state meet," he admitted, "but I would have liked to have scored better." Dudley was third in the state competition last summer and has a best round of 75 over the Holmes layout to his credit.

Hal Dobson, a ninth-grader this year at Pound Junior High, led the field of 24 at the turn after posting a front-nine score of 38, but failed to make the cut after a 43 on the back.

"I just couldn't get the putts to drop on the back," he said. "But I'm usually in the high 80s and this was my best round at Holmes, so I guess I can't complain."

Dobson will be the first alternate in case one of the five qualifiers is unable to compete next week.

Qualifying for the state junior championships — a 54-hole medal test of 18 holes next Monday and 36 on Tuesday — will be held this week at eight locations across the state. The five Lincoln entries will be a part of a total state meet field of 32.

The Nebraska Amateur Golf Association is sponsoring the state juniors for the fourth consecutive year. Omaha's Bob Swahn won the inaugural event. Rick Gorham of Lincoln captured the title in 1969, with Omaha's Tom Sieckman victorious last summer. The meet is open to boys who were 15 years of age or younger as of June 1.

CWS Fans Invited To Texas Barbecue

Edinburg, Tex. — A Pan American University spokesman says that "We don't care if 100 people or 10,000 show up from the College World Series at our baseball barbecue — in fact, we'd prefer 10,000."

The Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce, representing 17 chambers from Port Isabel — Padre Island to Rio Grande City, has promised a free barbecue to all Midwest fans who come to the Valley next January with a ticket stub from the College World Series in Omaha.

The Valley attracts many of its winter visitors from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri. The chamber's original invitation was to fans from those four states, but persons from elsewhere won't be turned away.

"Not many of our Valley fans can afford to make the 1,200-mile drive north to Omaha," said Jim McKone, Pan Am's sports information director. "So we hope to have some Midwesterners rooting for us there. If this works, we might make the Texas barbecue for Presidents Nixon and Johnson look like a family picnic at a roadside park."

Montreal Claims Dan Warthem Of Omaha North

New York (UPI) — Omaha lefthander Dan Warthem was the 28th pick Tuesday in the baseball draft here.

He was selected by Montreal as a fourth choice in the second round.

The Omaha North product has hurled only four innings in two games this spring due to knee trouble. He struck out all 12 batters he faced.

EPA Rejects Plan To Lower Water Treatment Standards

... Along Missouri River; Secondary Method Retained

Washington (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has turned down a suggestion from the General Accounting Office that it lower its municipal water treatment standards on the Missouri River.

The Federal Water Pollution Control Administration — formerly in the Interior Department and transferred to EPA last December — has been channeling federal aid for the past five years into the construction of municipal facilities providing "secondary" waste treatment.

The GAO has taken the position that "primary" treatment, a less costly and effective method, might be enough in some circumstances.

GAO recently circulated for comment a draft report suggesting that EPA should support primary treatment construction on the Missouri River.

'Limited Benefits'

The report, which GAO officials refused to make public, says construction of secondary treatment facilities on the Missouri River would provide only "limited benefits" and that the river has enough dissolved oxygen to absorb wastes.

Primary treatment removes only the fairly large solids from the water. It takes secondary treatment to remove oxygen-demanding wastes, bacteria and nutrients.

The Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council has already adopted state water quality standards which call for secondary treatment by Dec. 31, 1975, for communities discharging directly into the Missouri and by Jan. 1, 1972, for communities discharging indirectly into the river, meaning into another body of water first and then to the river.

EPA assistant administrator Thomas E. Carroll, commenting on the GAO "draft report," wrote: "The Environmental Protection Agency does not agree with the recommendation that a revision be made in the existing policy requiring secondary treatment of municipal sewage."

"We believe that this degree of sewage treatment is needed to protect water uses that exist now, as well as in the future, in the Missouri River and in other waterways."

"The time is past," Carroll wrote, "when this nation can ask itself how much pollution can be added to the environment instead of how much environmental pollution can be prevented."

Operation 'South' Said Underway

Moscow (AP) — Soviet military maneuvers in the southern part of the country have begun with the joint participation of land, air and sea forces. Tass announced Tuesday night.

Tass said land forces had "moved into their initial positions" and that "the air force, anti-aircraft troops and the navy have set about fulfilling their training tasks."

The maneuver is called operation "south."

YOUNG BICYCLIST CRITICALLY HURT

A 5-year-old Lincoln boy was listed in "critical" condition in an Omaha hospital after being hurt in a car-bicycle accident at 35th and South Tuesday night, police reported. Scott Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Johnson of 3801 Linden, sustained severe head injuries when his bicycle was in collision with a car driven by Harold

Taylor, 31, of 2811 Whittier. Police said the boy was headed north on 35th St. down a hill and was apparently unable to stop his bike. He narrowly missed an eastbound car on South St. and then crashed into the side of Taylor's car, police said. (Staff Photo by Harold Dreimanis)

Gap Narrows Between Vocational, General Education Claims Stanley

Kansas City (AP) — In the past five to 10 years, the cleavage between vocational and general education has narrowed, the Nebraska Superintendent of Education Cecil E. Stanley said.

"General educators have developed a new philosophy," the Lincoln educator told a U.S. Office of Education conference on vocational education. "Education must now be relevant to the individual students and to everyday life."

Stanley said that the change in emphasis has had "something to do with student militancy" at the high school levels.

Vocational education is suffering from an instructor shortage, Stanley added, something that he said general educators aren't facing.

The Nebraskan blasted the Vocational Act of 1968. "It bothers me," Stanley said. "Our schools are ready to move, but then we start to throw roadblocks in front of them."

Also appearing at the conference was Kansas Economic Development Director Jack Lacy. Lacy claimed that vocational education is suffering "paralysis by overanalysis."

Lacy said he believed the 1968 federal vocational legislation was designed to throw red tape in the way of vocational education implementation.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How to Work It:

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's etc. Single letters' apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. When you read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
